

TO GO 1,200 STRONG

THIRD REGIMENT TO BE MADE UP OF TWELVE COMPANIES.

IMPATIENTLY AWAIT THE CALL.

GREAT CROWDS AT ARMY TO SEE THE SOLDIERS DRILL.

Effort Being Brought to Bear to Have General Milton Moore Appointed Brigade Commander—Governor Makes Recommendation.

When the Third regiment marches through the streets of Kansas City on its way to the war, Colonel Gross will ride at the head of twelve companies instead of the ten which have hitherto composed a regiment. Every company under the command of Colonel Gross will have a hundred men and officers. Among the communications which he received yesterday was the following telegram from Adjutant General Bell:

Jefferson City, Mo., April 22, 1898. Colonel George P. Gross, Kansas City, Mo. Indications point to call for our four regiments. If you want twelve companies each. Would commission officers upon your recommendation. M. F. BELL.

The spirit of patriotic fervor which the people of Kansas City manifested when they learned on Thursday that war between the United States and Spain had actually begun was shown to an even greater degree by the spectators at the army last night. Men gathered in groups about the building and discussed the going away of the regiment. It will be the most thrilling day in the history of the town when the gallant men of the Third start for the front. Immediately the order is received for the regiment to move the members will assemble at the armory. If, before that time, they are equipped with the new uniforms which the government will furnish, they will proceed to their train in heavy marching order.

The band will march at the head of the column and stir the hearts of the populace with patriotic airs. Every regimental flag will flutter over the heads of the marching soldiers and in front of Kansas City's quota of fighters will ride Colonel Gross surrounded by his staff.

All of it will be warlike and glorious and every heart of those who will look on will thrill in response to the sentiments of joy.

the floor, which was temporarily cleared of spectators for the purpose, and then the company was taken out of doors to continue its practice and the floor was given over to the onlookers and the raw recruits who were divided into squads of various sizes for instruction. Sergeant James Sykes had the duty of providing instructors for the new men, of whom there were nearly 300. The drilling was not effective because of the crowded condition of the floor so great was the throng of spectators. The sergeant was clearly disgusted at the order of things and said to a reporter for The Journal:

"Say, hi want you to put in the paper this morning that no more outside people will be allowed in the armory on drill nights, hand that goes. Colonel's orders, mind you."

Many new recruits were added to the rolls of the different companies last night. Captain E. J. Griffith added the following to his company which has been assigned to the regiment as Company B: James M. Moses, E. Ashley, John H. Davis, Jefferson Crestion, C. C. Marshaw, James S. Colton, Elmer E. Johnson and W. S. Webber.

The following were the additions in the other companies:

Company K—John G. Crawford, Frank Meredith, Robert Crook, Michael Boyle, August Gerrette, E. B. Withers, Ford Le Sourd, James McPherson, W. D. Wither, Thomas Frederick, Henry Chiberg, Lee Angle, W. M. Brown, W. M. Waller, C. G. Hall.

Battery B—F. Wood, J. Peters, A. Dodson, W. Spahnour, F. Carneyhan, J. J. Clary, S. Gibson, W. Wilhelm, M. Drollich.

Company H—H. L. Hamm, W. R. McCull, Jefferson Davis, A. B. Austin, C. M. Kelly, P. S. Hart, Frank Fluke, W. O. Smalley, N. O. Henry Horn, Walter E. Taylor, James H. C. Morrison, Robert Barden, Company G—O. F. Branstetter, W. W. Ireland, A. J. Perrette, Frank Lockhart, John M. Hedrick, Fred Smith, A. W. Anderson, J. H. Thompson, A. W. Shultz, William H. Wagler, E. J. Welch, Leon J. Galtie, James K. McGahan, George B. King, E. L. Stansberry, S. H. Maupin, J. B. Salmon.

Company I—H. E. Baker, William Hakon, E. V. Trahan, W. H. Blanchard, P. R. Richards, D. D. Woods, J. C. North, W. Harding, W. H. Chassell, John W. Rogers, Robert Horsfield, D. D. Zander, M. M. Palmer, Charles E. Torman, W. O. Howey, C. Robertson, John Connors.

Gen. Moore for Brigade Commander. Much of the talk among the officers last night was on the probability of the president appointing General Milton Moore, of this city, to command the troops which the state will furnish. The officers of the Third are a unit in favor of such appointment for the general, and they are not alone in the desire to march under him. Colonel Gross received a communication yesterday informing him that Colonel Joseph A. Corby, of the Fourth regiment, N. G. M., and Colonel W. K. Caffee, of the Second, had wired Governor Stephens to use his case the four regiments of the N. G. M. will be sent to fight in a body. He has recommended Brigadier General Milton Moore, of Kansas City, commander of the first brigade, for appointment by the president.

Jefferson City, Mo., April 22.—(Special.) Adjutant General M. F. Bell stated to-night that it would be almost impossible to hold the Missouri troops longer than to-morrow. They are anxious for the call to come. They have quit their work and gone to drilling at their respective headquarters, and they will not wait much longer for the call to come. If the call is not made to-morrow, it would be a difficult matter for him to keep them from declaring war themselves.

BURNED A SPANISH FLAG.

Patriotic Boys Show Their Spirit in Rough Style—Lectured by Police and Released.

Headed by a flaming flag over 200 boys paraded down Main street last night yelling "Remember the Maine," and adding with vigorous twirls of the burning flag, "To Hell With Spain." Their patriotism was being given its freest vent when Police Officer Noon crossed onto Main street from Eighth. Not knowing what it was the boys had burning he called to them to stop.

"He's a bloody Spaniard," cried out one of the ringleaders of the crowd. Then they paraded down the block and then others cheered. Noon gave chase and finally overtook the boys with the flag.

"You'll set the buildings on fire," remonstrated the officer.

The other boys hooted and yelled at the officer, calling him all the unprintable names under which the Spaniards are now classed. Finally, in desperation, the officer placed the boy with the flag and one of those who had demonstrated himself to be a leader in the parade under arrest and took them to Central police station.

There they gave the names of Lawrence Hatch, who lives at 1425 Penn street, and H. McBride, who lives at 1228 Chestnut street. Unlike most boys taken before the captain's desk at Central station, they did not show the least sign of fear. Their eyes sparkled with enthusiasm and they stood before Lieutenant Moran with their shoulders thrown back in true military style.

"Here's what they were burning," said the officer as he passed the charred remnant of a flag through the window to the lieutenant.

"Why, it's a Spanish flag," remarked the lieutenant.

"That's what it is and we were burning it too," spoke up the Hatch boy, bravely. Then Lieutenant Moran began a quiet lecture to the boys, telling them they might have burned down a block of buildings by marked as he threw the blackened flagstick into a corner.

CRAIG'S COMMAND INCREASES.

157 New Names Secured Yesterday, a Total of 418 in the Past Two Days.

It was estimated by Adjutant Chamberlain, when the recruiting office for the First Missouri volunteers was closed last night at 9 o'clock, that the total enrollment for Colonel Craig's regiment was something over 1,200. This includes the squadron organized at Armour's, 490; a company of 112 men from Clinton, a company at Lexington and a company at Independence.

The recruiting will, nevertheless, go right on at the old stand until the list is swelled to 1,200 or 1,300 names as it is expected that many will drop out in the end. These will be men who were carried away by the excitement of the first day and signed without due deliberation, and others who will fail to pass the final examination.

The number of enlistments yesterday at the Ninth and Central street recruiting office, for Colonel Craig's regiment, was 157. With the 23 recruits signed Thursday this makes a total of 418 enlistments in two days for the First Missouri.

The latest outside acquisition was made yesterday, when a message from A. P. Kidwell announced that he had enlisted 112 men at Clinton for Colonel Craig's command and could easily get 100 more if desired. Word came from some source that a full regimental band of twenty-three pieces had been enlisted and would report for orders shortly. The name of the town at which they organized was not divulged.

No abatement of the military ardor which marked the first day on which the books were opened was to be noted yesterday. The life and drum corps continue to furnish martial music, and all day long the room was filled with patriots, whose enthusiasm knew no bounds. Most of them were strong, able-bodied men, who would readily pass muster. They had taken time to deliberate and were thoroughly in earnest in enrolling themselves for the war.

Last night 150 of the new recruits were put through a preliminary drill on the street by Lieutenant Erskine, and demonstrated the fact that the First regiment will have lots of good material in its make-up. A small squad was also put through the first steps of drill by Private Sessions, an ex-soldier of the British army, and said to be a crack drillmaster. All the men enlisted at the Ninth and Central street office will meet there at 7:30 o'clock to-night for assignment and drill.

The following is a complete list of the names of the 157 volunteers signed yesterday:

Martin M. Orr, E. J. Melville, Frank Skeen, Joseph T. Eshman, Dr. H. Perrie Hueyette, George A. McDougall, A. Keatin, Edward B. Arrant, J. E. Williams, E. K. Campbell, E. C. Spencer, Ellis Rich, Oliver Davenport, William Diggins, John W. Cooper, William H. Replogle, J. H. Knapp.

"Great Blessing."

Wife of a Prominent Methodist Minister so Refers to That Valuable Specific for Nervous Diseases, Dr. Miles' Nervine. It Cured Her.

More than half the sickness and disease in this world comes from weak nerves, loss of vitality and nerve force. When the nervous power is depressed, then the food is imperfectly digested, assimilation is interrupted, the albumen and fibrine of the blood—the nutritious principles of the blood—become deficient in their relative proportions to the other parts of the blood, and the health suffers. It cannot be repeated too often that the nerves control every part of the body, and anything which irritates the nerve centers weakens the life-giving and life-sustaining power of the whole system. Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine is the exact remedy for that large class of feeble, thin-blooded, nervous and often hysterical persons whose greatest need is a thorough rest and quiet for the tired brain and the overwrought nerves. Among the many thousands of such sufferers from a tortured nervous system was Mrs. A. V. Babb, wife of Rev. A. V. Babb, pastor M. E. Church, Plainville, Ill.

Mrs. Babb says: "For a long time I was a great sufferer from nervous attacks of the most severe nature. My rest was greatly broken by sleepless nights and my health was very poor. But lately I have been taking Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine with great benefit. Oh! what a blessing it is to me, in quieting my nervous attacks. It has given me new life and new hope for a permanent change for the better in my health."

If you are "played out," cannot sleep, cannot digest your food, cannot work or attend to your daily duties and have lost courage, Dr. Miles' Nervine will show itself to be the best friend you ever had. It will enable you to forget your troubles, and will restore you to health again.

You run no risk in giving Dr. Miles' Remedies a trial. They have been before the public now for over twelve years, and their constantly increasing sale is the very best evidence that they possess superior healing qualities. Those in need of medical advice can have the services of the best physicians, absolutely free of charge. Valuable book on diseases of heart and nerves sent free on request. ## Mr. Lund's Son a Patriot.

City Comptroller Hans Lund yesterday morning received a letter from his son, Hugo, who is at Purdue university, at La-and marched to the house, where a peremptory demand was made to haul down the "Spanish flag" and hoist the red, white and blue. This Mrs. Duke did at once and the children gave three cheers and marched away. Mrs. Duke explained that the flag was one presented to her by General Booth and that it was patriotism and not the lack of it which caused her to put the flag up.

RETREAT OF COLONEL GROSS.

Importance of Visitors Made Him Flee—184 Recruits at Downtown Station.

Colonel Gross made his first retreat yesterday since the war with Spain began. At an early hour in the afternoon he evacuated his office in the American Bank building and sought refuge in the downtown recruiting headquarters of the Third regiment. When the colonel arrived at his office in the morning a crowd of men was gathered about his door, and each individual had a personal scheme for locking the Spaniards which he wanted to submit for approval.

The colonel was patient and listened attentively to each of his visitors, and an hour passed before the last one left. A big pile of unopened mail lay on his desk. He clutched a handful of letters, but before he had read the contents of the first one, a second procession of visitors entered. Some wanted to enlist. They were referred to the recruiting station. Others came to make friendly calls and to discuss the chances of American victory in the argument with the don'ts of the colonel. The colonel succeeded in getting through with a part of his morning mail. At intervals entered men, some of whom had seen service and some of whom had not, but all of whom wanted to know their chances of getting commissions in the event of their enlisting. These the colonel turned away diplomatically and heaved a tired sigh as they left. Still the stream of visitors continued to flow toward his office, and a little after 3 o'clock the colonel's patience gave out. It was then that he retreated to the recruiting station.

The empty store at 323 Walnut street, which had served for an enlistment station for the Third regiment, was given up yesterday morning and a new station opened at the corner of Ninth and Main streets, in the room formerly used as Democratic headquarters. There was the usual crowd of civilians, with here and there mingling among them uniformed officers and privates of the regiment that marked the scenes about the old recruiting station. Since 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon until 6 o'clock last night 184 recruits have been added to the Third regiment through the downtown station. Sixty-three volunteers were added yesterday, every one of whom was put through the most rigid physical examination. So many men have offered their services that the physicians in charge have become more severe in the requirements they make of the candidates.

The only incident of the day that disturbed the usual military serenity of the headquarters was a report that came from a recruiting station at 802 Main street that Captain Taylor E. Duncan, of the High School cadets, who was assisting in recruiting men there, was wearing the uniform of a captain of the national guard.

Duncan is a private in Company C, of the Third regiment. Sergeant Sykes was ordered by Colonel Gross to go to the Main street recruiting station and strip Duncan of the uniform. Duncan protested that the colonel had no right to order him to take off what belonged to him. Sykes was obdurate and Duncan took off the blouse and cap. Duncan procured another blouse and officer's cap after Sergeant Sykes had left and he wore them throughout the rest of the day. Charges will be preferred

The men enlisted yesterday are:

Grant Lawrence, E. H. Burtin, George Collin, E. Kincaid, J. DeLee, J. A. Sheld, H. J. Wright, J. L. Bush, J. E. O'Dowd, W. O. Hower, C. F. Bunner, E. J. Madson, E. A. Marshall, H. Merow, H. Schofield, W. F. Buster, A. B. Ferrier, E. R. H. Hutchins, E. Sandridge, N. M. Green, William Cornet, J. Ryan, E. R. Arrant, J. B. Devester, P. Fitzharris, E. P. Green, R. T. Holt, T. E. Sutton, C. J. Bush, W. Hilbert, J. Stillwell, C. E. Spencer.

MORE PATRIOTS ENLISTING.

Recruiting Office Opened at 1806 East Eighteenth and Forty-seven Names Secured.

A permanent recruiting office has been opened at 1806 East Eighteenth street, and forty-seven names have been already secured, as follows:

George Nolis, Sam Bowman, M. W. Shanton, Iron Rhodes, Frank Schepford, H. D. Laffoon, W. V. Critz, O. J. Forest, Ray Forest, J. B. Redenbaugh, Russell Redenbaugh, E. H. Milhm, William Wilson, J. F. Sutton, John P. Doherty, Elmer Weisup, J. B. Harrigan, Charles McComas, C. A. Taylor, Richard Farwell, Fred J. Schreffler, Charles Underwood, Charles Thompson, George Wilks, Charles Graves, Burt King.

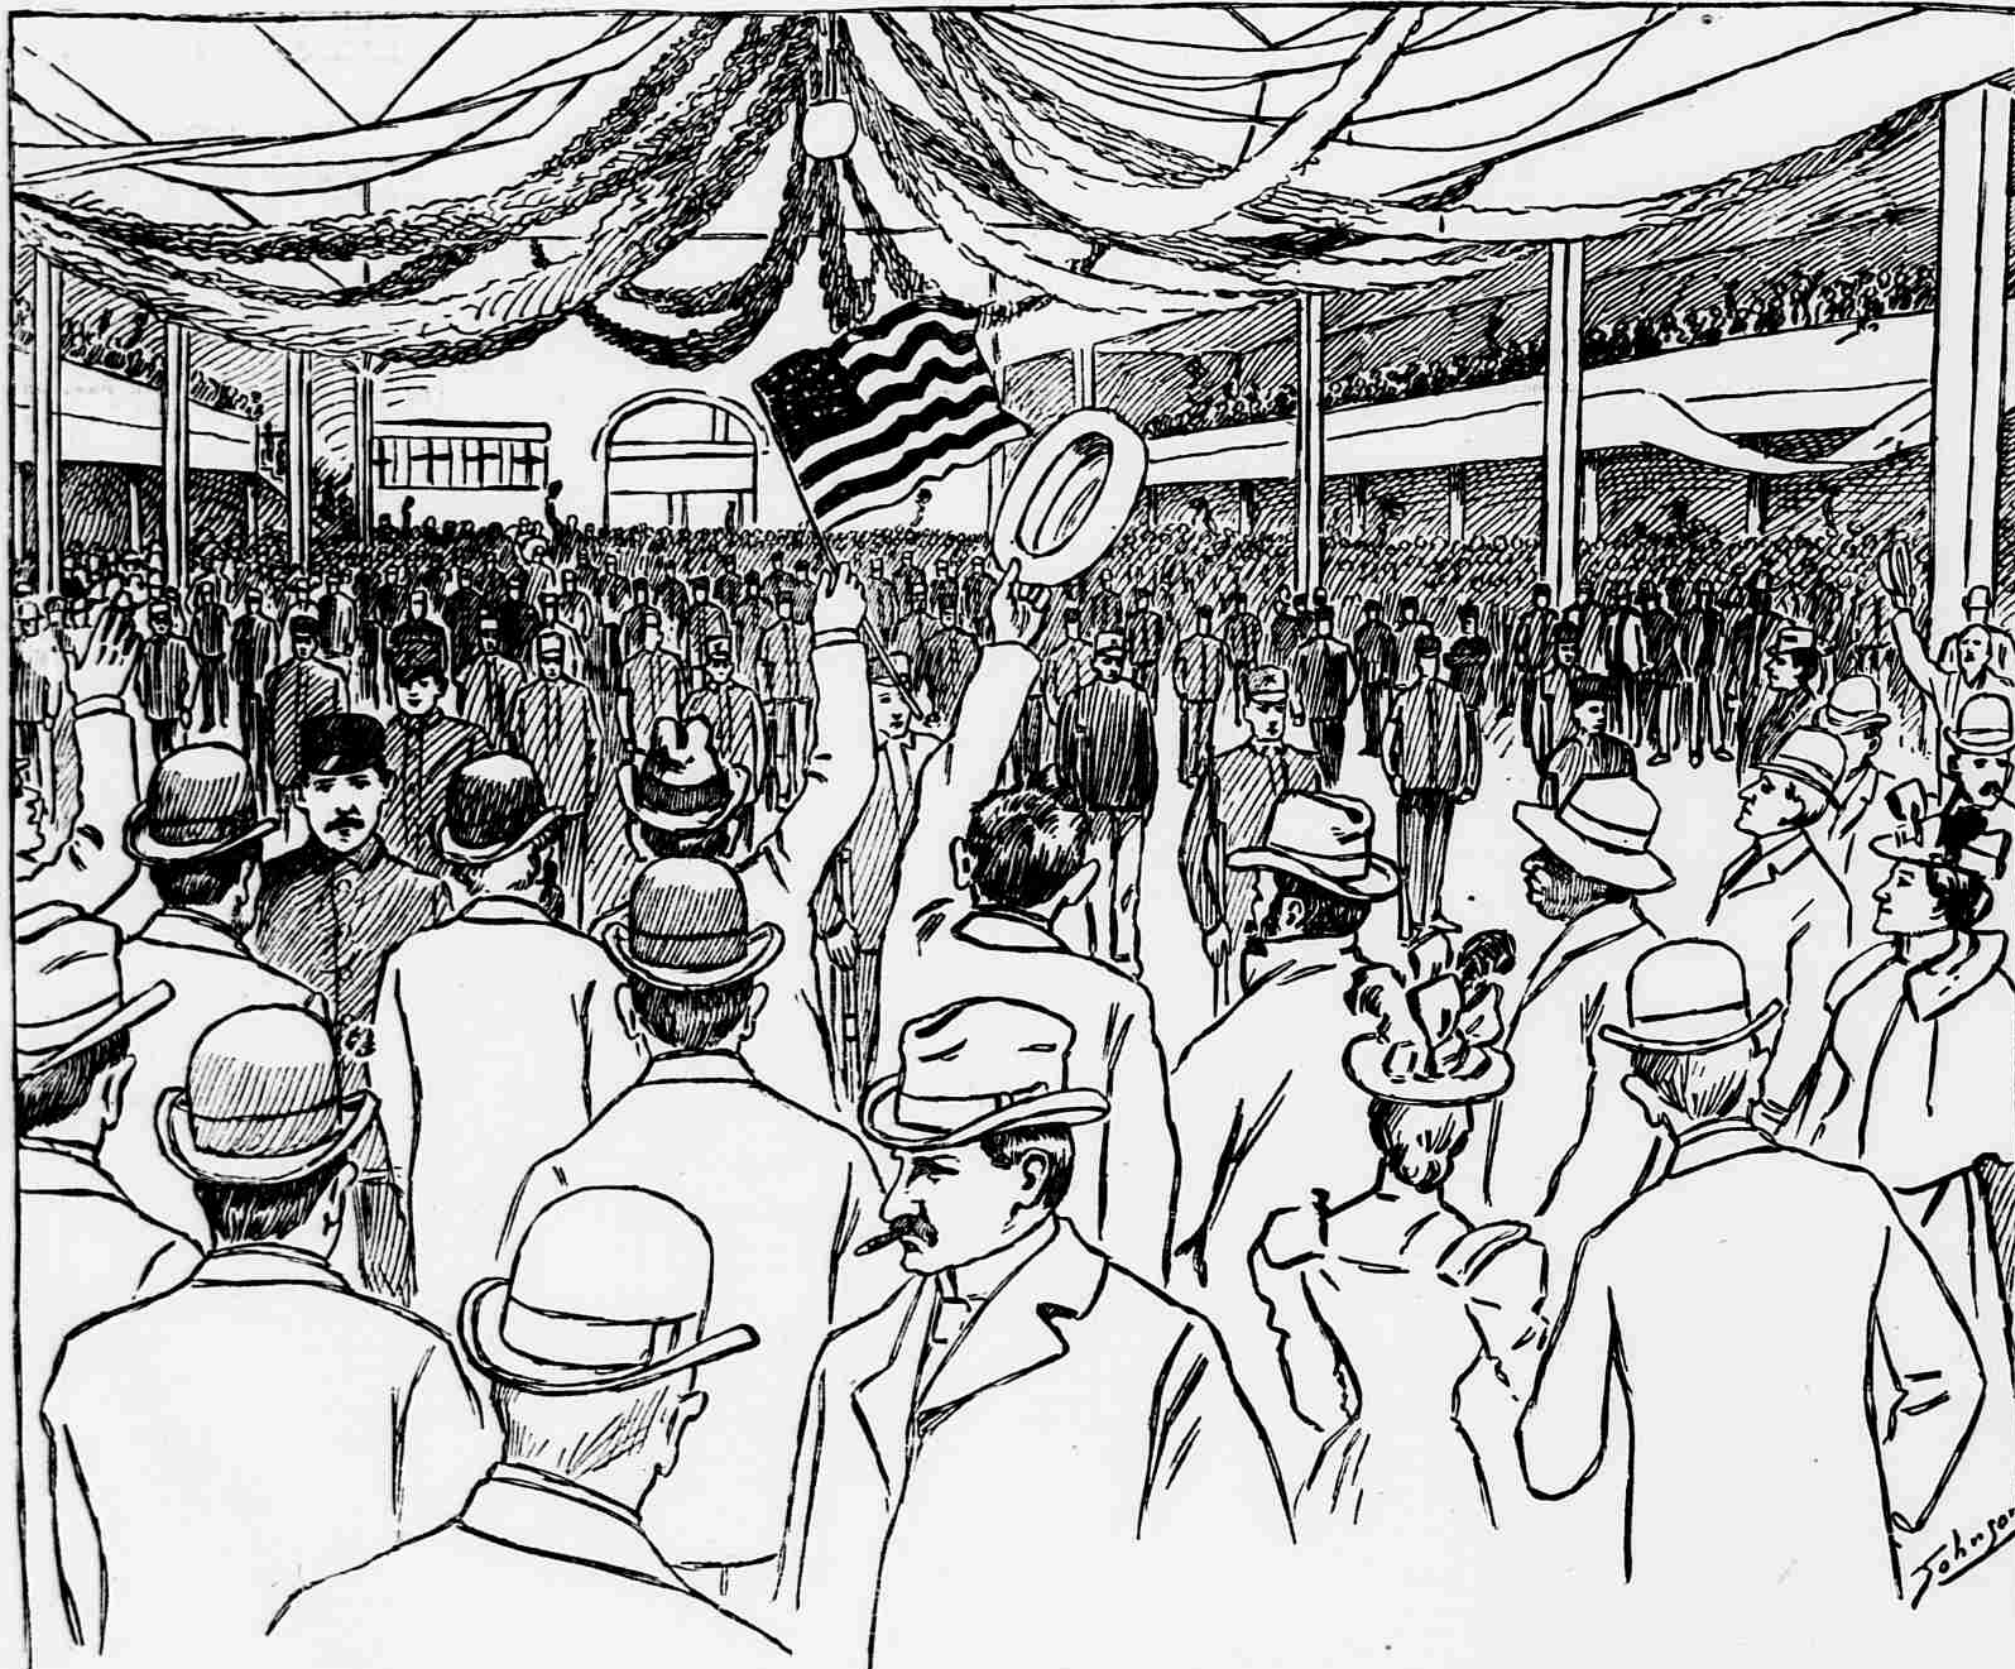

Substitute Clerks Put to Work. Four of the substitute clerks of the postoffice were called in yesterday morning by Assistant Postmaster Sedlitz and put to work learning the duties of the office so that all places in the working force may be kept filled when the men here now who have enlisted are sent to the front. Several of the clerks are members of the Third and expect to be sent forward within the next week and Mr. Sedlitz wants to have enough new men broken in to keep matters moving along smoothly.

Half a dozen of the men will ask for the year's leave of absence fixed by the department, so that they may enlist if there is a call that will let them in.

A Fighting Negro Parson.

Rev. Mr. W. D. Venable is organizing a company of 100 negroes to be a part of the colored regiment commanded by Colonel E. I. Pearson. All patriotic negroes between the ages of 18 and 45 are requested to call at 819 Independence avenue and enlist for battle.

GETTING READY FOR WAR.

Putting the Militiamen Through Military Maneuvers at the Third Regiment Armory.

city and love for country which such scenes ever inspire. But there will be old men and women whose memory will go back to another day when soldiers marched the streets to war and for them the day will be sorrowful and full of sad memories. The soldier boys are all anxious for the fight and every day their colonel and their captains are besieged by them for information as to the probable time that they will be ordered forward. Last night's scenes at the armory were even more remarkable than those of Thursday night. So great was the crush of those who wanted to watch the drilling that a squad of police was sent to preserve order outside the doors. The police were reinforced by a squad of militiamen who stood off the crowd which completely blocked both Troost avenue and Twelfth street in front of the building.

Struggle With the Recruits.

Inside, on the floor, was a heterogeneous mass of civilians, new recruits and uniformed soldiers. There was not an inch of available standing space in the galleries, which were filled with women, young and old, and children who waved flags and shouted their pleasure at everything that pleased them.

Company K had a half hour's drill on utmost influence with the president to have the appointment made.

Colonel Gross is anxious that the public should know that the check for $150 which he received yesterday was not for the purchase of a horse for himself, but for the officers' fund. The colonel, however, will be provided with the finest piece of horse flesh to be obtained in Kansas City by some of his friends. The purchase was made yesterday, but the time for the presentation has not been arranged.

An officers' meeting will be held at the armory to-night. It is expected that definite news as to the probable time when the regiment will be called out will be received before night. The general impression among the officers is that the regiment will be ordered to move before the middle of the week, although Colonel Gross declares that he has no idea when the call will come.

Jefferson City, Mo., April 22.—(Special.) Governor Stephens wants Missouri to have a brigade commander in the present war. He wrote a letter to-day to President McKinley, requesting him to appoint a brigade commander for the Missouri troops from the Missouri state forces, and in that running through the streets with the flag on fire.

"We hadn't thought of that," replied one of the boys, soberly. "But a man gave us that flag and said it was a Spanish flag and we set it on fire without stopping to think."

"Take your Spanish flags out into the fields the next time, boys, and burn them there," said Lieutenant Moran, with a twinkle in his eye.

"You ain't a Spaniard," said the Hatch boy, beginning to suspect that they would not, after all, be permitted to act the part of martyrs and be cast in the holdover for being patriotic. "I have been trying to enlist all day but they say I'm too small," he continued. "My father was only as old as I am when he went in the army."

Then Lieutenant Moran told the boys they could go.

Mr. Lund was so well pleased with the spirit of his son that he sent him the necessary permission and a check for a liberal amount to supply himself with whatever outfit might be necessary.

THOUGHT IT A SPANISH FLAG.

Patriotic Armourdale Children Demand the Removal of a Salvation Army Banner.

The patriotism of young America was very forcibly demonstrated by several school children yesterday afternoon in Armourdale. Mrs. John H. Duke, who lives at 621 South St. Paul street, had hoisted the Salvation Army flag instead of "Old Glory" when the whistles blew the war announcement Thursday afternoon. It was seen by several and nothing was thought of it until "young America" discovered it. Some of the children thought that it was a Spanish flag and that was enough to arouse their ire. Several of them got together
